B. MILLENS GIVEN JUDGMENT

Judgment was taken Tuesday afternoon in supreme court in the action brought by Barney Millens against Maurice Frank of New York city, there being no appearance on the part of the defendant. The action grew out of two transactions in rags which took place last spring in which Mr. Millens received trade acceptances to the amount of $965.44 from defendant. When these were presented for payment they went to protest and Mr. Millens brought the action to recover the amount due.

In May last Mr. Millens, who conducts a wholesale junk business in Rondout, shipped to Mr. Frank in New York a quantity of colored shirt cuttings for which Mr. Frank agreed to pay in cash $825.38. After the goods were shipped Mr. Frank sent back to Mr. Millens the amount, not in cash but in trade acceptances due in one month. These was refused by Mr. Millens who sent his son Max to New York to get a settlement.

Mr. Frank told Max Millens that he was at that time financially unable to pay in cash but that he would give him $400 in cash and trade acceptance for the balance and that he had due him from some house in Chicago several thousand dollars and that he was worth considerable more money. On this statement Max Millens returned to Kingston and gave the cash and trade acceptance to his father and on the statement of Mr. Frank more goods were shipped to New York. This second shipment amounted to $537.64 and trade acceptance was again given, due on September 16, 1921. The paper was put through the bank and came back protested.

In the meantime Frank called a meeting of his creditors in New York city and Max Millens representing his father attended with Mr. Brinnier, their attorney. At that meeting Mr. Frank offered his creditors 15 cents on the dollar in checks and notes and on advice of Mr. Brinnier Max Millens refused the offer, relying on Mr. Frank's former statement that he was worth considerable money and was able to pay the bill in full.

The action brought Tuesday in Supreme court before Judge Nichols and tried without a jury was to recover the full amount due with interest. Mayor Canfield appeared for Mr. Millens, representing the firm of Brinnier, Canfield and Brinnier.

Court then went into recess until 10 o'clock this morning.

DISTRIBUTE FREE WOOD TO NEEDY

Alderman Martin Wants City to Give Worthy Poor Families the Wood That Has Accumulated at Delaware Avenue Tabernacle—Other Resolutions.

Alderman William B. Martin, of the Twelfth ward, at the regular monthly meeting of the common council held Tuesday evening, offered a resolution that the mayor, superintendent of the alms board and street superintendent be authorized to distribute free to the needy people of the city all the wood that has accumulated at the Delaware avenue tabernacle from trees that have been taken down throughout the city; that all applications for the wood should be made to either of the three, and that they are to use their own judgment as to the amount to be allowed each family.

Alderman Roosa said that he understood this wood was used by the street force in carrying on street work and in firing the boilers on the steam rollers.

Alderman Myers said that was so but that there was still a considerable surplus of wood left over, and for that reason he seconded the Martin resolution, which was adopted.

The following resolutions were offered:

Alderman Roosa—That holes in South Manor avenue be filled; to board of public works.

Alderman Higgins—That incandescent light at Liberty and Prospect streets be replaced with arc light; to board of public works.

Alderman Kirchner—That Hudson street be repaired; to board of public works.

Alderman Kirchner—That Abeel street be swept and cleaned before winter sets in as it is very dirty; to board of public works.

Alderman Macholdt—That sidewalk on Hoffman street, between the armory and shirt factory, be repaired; to chief of police.

Alderman Macholdt—That incandescent light be placed at Smith and High streets; to board of public works.

Alderman Martin—That as grade had been established on Boulder avenue, corporation counsel be instructed to ask water board why it failed to extend water main through that street; referred to water board and corporation counsel.

Alderman Parish—That catch basin at Chambers and East Pierpont streets be cleaned; to board of public works.

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

Article XVII.

By way of provisional arrangement for the administration of Southern Ireland during the interval which must elapse between the date hereof and the constitution of a parliament and a government of the Irish Free State in accordance therewith, steps shall be taken forthwith for summoning a meeting of the members of Parliament elected for the constituencies in Southern Ireland since the passing of the governments of Ireland act in 1920 and for constituting a provisional government. And the British Government shall take steps necessary to transfer to such provisional government the powers and machinery requisite for the discharge of its duties, provided that every member of such provisional government shall have signified in writing his or her acceptance of this instrument. But this arrangement shall not continue in force beyond the expiration of twelve months from the date hereof.

KING GRANTS IRISH AMNESTY

Between 4,000 and 5,000 Sinn Fein Prisoners Will be Released—Parliaments Prepare to Meet and Ratify Pact.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Dec. 7.—King George today issued a decree of amnesty granting liberty to all Irish prisoners.

It is estimated that between 4,000 and 5,000 Sinn Fein prisoners are in British detention camps. The first intimation that they would be freed as a result of the creation of the new Irish Free State was contained in an exclusive Dublin dispatch to the International News Service Tuesday.

Events began to move rapidly today for setting up the new political machinery of the Irish peace agreement. Final plans were made for the meeting of the British and Sinn Fein parliaments to ratify the pact and the government began to arrange for the withdrawal of all British administrative officials from Ireland.

The post of chief secretary for Ireland, now held by Sir Hamar Greenwood, will be abrogated.

Irish questions will be handled through the colonial office, this post being held at the present time by Winston Churchill.

POMONA GRANGE ELECTS OFFICERS

Patrons from all over the county gathered at Milton on Friday, December 2nd, to attend the Pomona Grange. Worthy Master McCormack opened the Grange in the fifth degree with the usual impressive ceremony and the business of the day moved briskly on. Reports from all over the county showed that everywhere increases in membership and increase in interest and enthusiasm marked the quarter's work. The report of the district deputy placed special emphasis on the important office of secretary. Not only do the secretaries need to keep their records carefully as a history of the work of the order but on them rests the greatest responsibility that the grange have the most secure businesslike basis of paid-up memberships and prompt reports.

The resolution was passed that the subordinate granges be asked to send contributions of fruits, vegetables, clothing, toys, etc., to the Industrial Home at Kingston.

After a delicious dinner served by the "Maids and Matrons Club" of Milton in the Community House the afternoon session began with the reception of ten new members. Then followed the election of officers for the term of two years which resulted as follows:

Master, C. E. Davis, Lake Katrine Grange.

Overseer, H. V. Story, Ulster Park Grange.

Lecturer, C. R. Taber, Milton Grange.

Steward, James Conklin, Milton Grange.

Assistant Stewart, Walter Hasbrouck, New Paltz Grange.

Chaplain, Mrs. C. C. Hardenburg, Stone Ridge Grange.

Treasurer, F. H. Terhune, Clintondale Grange.

Secretary, L. D. Sahler, Stone Ridge Grange.

Gatekeeper, Merritt Relyea, Asbury Grange.

Flora, Mrs. A. P Wilklow, Highland Grange

Pomona, Miss Margaret Jansen, New Paltz Grange.

Ceres, Mrs. J. W. Alsdorf, Clintondale Grange.

Lady Assistant Steward, Mrs. I. C. Barnes, New Paltz Grange.

Miss Jansen was also appointed press reporter and J. Wells Weaver was recommended for district deputy.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the State Grange Convention at Binghamton: I. C. Barnes, Clarence Finger, Mrs. E. K. Sherman, W. E. Harcourt, Mrs. John Davidson.

Among the pleasant features of the day was the hearty welcome given to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Tallman of Dutchess county whose speeches of greeting and good-will were warmly applauded. Manager Chase of the Farm Bureau gave an interesting account of the campaign for the five dollar Farm Bureau members and the success which had been attained, closing with a spirited appeal for real cooperation among the farmers. Miss Stuart, manager of the Home Bureau, spoke in her turn of the successful efforts of the Home Bureau, speaking particularly of the relation she had found between a live grange and community progress. Wherever grange spirit is strong, there the community makes great strides ahead. Sincere regret was expressed over the loss of Miss Stuart from grange and county as she goes to take up the home demonstration work in Hamden county, Mass. The secretary was directed to send letters of greeting from this Pomona to the Hamden County Pomona.

After a day filled to the brim with business and interest the members departed in a driving rain. The next meeting of the Pomona will be at New Paltz in March.

Is the Grange where each is the

The Grange that is-to-Be!"

Realization of Alchemist's Dream of Turning Base Metal Into Gold Due Any Day.

(Copyright 1921, By I. N. S.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 7.—Thomas A. Edison says that a discovery has been made within the last two months that marks a long step toward the discovery of means by which gold may be manufactured out of base metals. He made this statement to me just before we left Muscle Shoals, Ala.

"The chemical papers are full of it," he said. "It has been discovered that lead, insead of being a single metal, as had been supposed, contains two ingredients instead of one.

"The discovery of how to make gold artificially, may be made any day. I have said this for years. This new discovery is a part of the solution of the problem.

"I have always felt that the gold clause in bonds is dangerous. This clause provides that the bonds shall be paid in gold of a certain degree of fineness. What would the people who own railway bonds says if they should wake up some morning and find that gold could be manufactured as cheaply as we now make pig-iron? Well, that is exactly what will happen some day—and it may happen any day."

The number of illiterates ten years old and over is 2,353 or 3.8 per cent of those over that age. The percentage of illiteracy in 1910 was 6.9. Ulster county has 16,978 dwellings and 19,375 families.

Delaware, Schoharie and Allegany are the only counties of the state with less than 5 per cent of foreign born population. Ulster is in the third group with a percentage of between 10 and 15 per cent, as are Orange and Dutchess. Greene has between 5 and 10 per cent and Sullivan 15 to 25 per cent.

To Sell City Property.

Mayor Canfield sent in a communication calling attention to the fact that the city had bought properies at tax sales to protect itself and that some of the properties were not bringing in any returns to the city and he suggested that the matter of selling them be taken up.

In the discussion that followed it was brought out that some of the properties were that at German and Ravine streets, and also the property bought on Washington avenue when the viaduct was erected.

Alderman Schick moved that the mayor's suggestion be approved, which was adopted. There is already a committee having the matter in charge.

Other matters will be found elsewhere.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story

Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

During his trip, Jim kept his eyes opened for another job and secured it in a delicatessen store. For two days he spent all his working moments grinding sausage meat, forcing into skins for sausages, cutting potatoes for salad and pouring mayonnaise or French dressings over the vegetable combinations.

Frantz, the husky worker beside him, talked in pigeon English that Jim found very trying. All day he kept sampling the various ingredients and crumbling round pungent onions between his sharp teeth. He had just taken a man's size bite out of a Bermuda when Kathrine, the proprietor's robust daughter entered the kitchen.

Kathrine had straw colored bobbed hair, very red cheeks and a plump figure. She looked like a huge baby doll as she paused, and pouted. "Frantz, you are eating onions again!"

"Ach Kathrine, so I am, so I am."

"But you promised me you wouldn't, today of all days."

"Why today?" asked Jim.

"Frantz and I were going to the dance tonight. The last time we went he had been eating onions, and it was awful. You know," to Frantz, "you promised me."

"I forgot. Honest, I forgot all about it. I'm sorry, Kathrine. I won't eat any more."

"More! I guess you've eaten enough now to scare away a regiment."

"Eat some yourself," laughed Jim. "You know the saying—if two people eat onions neither one can smell the other."

"Yes, but I don't intend to dance every dance with Frantz." Kathrine tossed her head defiantly. "What would my other partners say? Shall I take along a bag of onions, to pass around to every partner I have?"

"I'll remember the next time."

"But tonight! That's what interests me now. I just can't go, that's all."

"Couldn't you stand a few dances if I chewed spearmint?"

"No. You deserve to be punished, but I do so want to go to the dance." Tears rolled down the china-like cheek, and Frantz's tears fell in sympathy.

"I tell you, Kathrine, you let Jim take you."

Jim wasn't anxious to attend the dance, but rather than disappoint the girl, he agreed to take Frantz's place, with that gentleman's consent. Kathrine was a fair dancer, so Jim rather enjoyed dancing with her. But she was very popular, and was led off by so many partners that he saw little of her all evening.

He was ready when she came up to him at midnight, red and a little out of breath, a pout of disappointment on her face. Jim wondered if he had failed as an escort, and proceeded to find out at once. "Had a good time?"

"Not very."

"That's strange. You've danced every dance, and had as many attendants as any girl could wish."

"If only Frantz had gone."

"Then I haven't been satisfactory."

"Oh you were all right. But every single partner I had had been eating garlic. That's a lot worse than onions. I wish Frantz had been there."

And all he could say, was—"Well, good-bye, Jim—take keer of yourself"

THE POET, Riley, has told the story beautifully and well—how the old-fashioned father sent the boy out into the world. A heart full of affection and hope spoke only these words: "Well, good-bye, Jim; take keer of yourself."

Enough to say, enough to hope for, enough to do—take care of yourself—and there's the foundation of safety, the promise of success.

And how easy a thing to fail in! For instance, the common practice of coffee or tea-drinking administers to the system a dosing of drug whose harm has been pointed out repeatedly by medical men, sometimes in alarming terms—and whose effect is very commonly found in over-excited nerves, sleeplessness, irritability, indigestion, high blood pressure—loss of efficiency; failure to "get on."

The drug, caffeine in coffee and thein in tea, acts as a whip upon the nerves. Over-whipped nerves may run away, or break down, —like an over-whipped horse.

Thousands of people have found for themselves that they cannot safely drink coffee or tea. Some have had the news broken to them by their physicians, and many are complaining about symtoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of alertness during business hours, and wondering what the cause may be —when the cause probably is tea or coffee. A great many people who know they cannot safely drink coffee at night still hope they can go on with it at other times, and dodge the damage.

How easy it is to fail to take care—and how hard the consequences usually are!

A quarter of a century ago Postum brought to the world's dining table that kindest wish of friendship and good will: "Take care of yourself." Cheerfully, pleasantly, happily, Postum has brought the message and shown the way to increasing thousands in every land —"Take care of yourself."

Postum is a pure cereal beverage, a cup of kindness from Nature's smiling grain fields —a table drink of charm without harm.

There's no drug in Postum—but plenty of satisfaction and comfort. Postum can be enjoyed by every member of the family—no need to draw the danger line and warn away the children as is usually thought necessary with coffee and tea. And no need to fear that Postum with the evening meal will rob the night of sleep—not Postum!

Postum is a friendly drink, always. And it fully satisfies. Those who have tried Postum as a relief from the ills of coffee and tea have kept on with Postum for itself. They have found better sleep, better feeling, better fitness —better health—and they do enjoy the taste of this splendid mealtime drink!

If you are not yet one of the great army of Postum users, you can make the experiment now, without a bit of trouble, and with no sacrifice to taste or comfort. Order Postum from your grocer today, or tell your waiter at the hotel or restaurant to serve it to you. You can get Postum wherever good food and drink are sold or served.

Have Postum prepared according to directions, make the test of its use for ten days, compare your feeling with the old experience —and see whether you want to turn back.

Postum points the way along the sunrise road—away from the risks—and gives you the message in which most of the good wishes of life are summed up—"Take care of yourself."

POSTUM comes in two forms: INSTANT POSTUM (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. POSTUM CEREAL (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

The Solar System.

The astronomer, Copernicus, who lived from 1473 to 1543, laid down as the foundation of his explanation of the solar system that the sun was fixed and that the earth and all the planets moved around it. Kepler (1571-1630) found that the planets moved in ellipses, not circles, round the sun. Kepler deduced three conclusions, respecting the movements of the planets, known as Kepler's Three Laws, and Sir Isaac Newton, (1642-1727) proved that they are a consequence of a single universal law of gravitation.

WILL NOT DRAG CHINA INTO WAR

Powers at Washington Confab Pledge Respect for Her Neutrality—Americans Silent on Reports of Three-Cornered Entente.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, Dec. 7.—The eight powers represented in the Washington conference today pledged themselves to respect China's neutrality in future wars. A resolution to this effect was unanimously adopted at today's secret meeting of the Far East committee.

The neutrality issue was one on which the Chinese insisted the "ten principles" presented to the conference several weks ago

It appeared today that a Chinese crisis is rapidly developing which may vitally affect the whole conference.

In addition to the resignation of four chief advisers from the Chinese delegation, it was reported that Dr Wong, chief justice of China, also has resigned from the delegation

The Chinese "people's delegates" issued a statement, savagely attacking Japan's policy in Shantung and asserted only the unconditional return of the province will satisfy the Chinese nation

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of South China, at a cost in cables tolls of $3 000, cabled a complete Chinese conference program which he stated is the minimum of China's requirements.

American officials remain silent concerning rumors and reports of an entente being formed with Great Britain, Japan and France.

A British spokesman hinted that Japan's acceptance of the naval ratio, is contingent upon an "understanding" being reached regarding Pacific fortifications.

Powers pledge themselves to observe China's neutrality in future.

American officials remain silent in the face of increasing reports here and abroad that an "entente" has been arranged between the United States, Great Britain, Japan and possibly France and Italy.

Jewels From the River Bed.

Ceylon's great sport is the hunting of jewels which are often to be found in the beds of rivers. Sometimes these streams are dried up for a time and then the rewards are great for the hunter. Government permission must be granted before one may go gem hunting, and having obtained this permission, the hunter is allowed to keep all he finds. To the inexperienced eye, the precious pebble, as it rests on the ground, looks like an ordinary stone, the expert can detect the valuable ones at once.

Foresight.

Brother Joe came forward to be baptized. The parson said, "Yoh done been baptized twelve times. Jo An' again you come forward into de fold. Ain't dat de truf, dat yoh has been baptized befoh?" "Dat's de truf," said Brother Joe. "How often do you expect to be baptized, I ax yoh?" "I reckon every year," said Brother Joe. "De oftener I gets dis mortal clay soaked, de safer I'll sure be from the sparks on dat great day when de world am all on fire. Hallelujah!"—Exchange.

Who Owns the Earth?

It is estimated that there are 57,255,000 square miles of land on the earth. Of this number about 25,000,000 square miles are fertile. Great Britain claims 14,000,000 square miles almost half; the balance is unequally divided among many other nations.

ANOTHER BRITISH CRITIC.

If the publication of Lord Acton's comments on America had not been delayed seventy years, due to the fact that the diary of his travels in this country was only recently brought to light, they might have caused more resentment among Americans than even the criticisms of Mrs. Trollope and Charles Dickens. Lord Acton, later in life one of the most learned men of his time, visited America in 1853 at the age of 19. He found "little to see" in New York, which was "not a fine city," and seems to have been annoyed by difficulties connected with getting his washing done there, for he records that he was informed there was "but one laundress in the city." At the Tribune office, however, he was impressed by the efficiency of a printing press operated by six men which could print 12,000 copies in an hour, and by the fact that 50 compositors were at work. Horace Greeley himself showed the young British baronet around, who rewarded him by writing in his diary that Greeley looked "half cracked and half a rogue."

His comments on New York society were equally uncomplimentary, except in one particular, which does not seem to have pleased him. "Not one of the ladies was handsome," he wrote, "and if it be fair to judge them by a London standard I should call them vulgar. They spoke with a detestable twang. I suspect they are all rather highly educated." He was no better pleased with the men, to whom he thus referred:

> I recognized numerous specimens of the real Yankee type of countenance. Numbers of faces might have been cast in the same mould. It is not a very intelligent face, and a selfish face. They are generally thin and their hair turns white early, perhaps from the quantity of drink and perspiration. They are seldom fine men, but tall. They are fond of wearing hair all around their chins, or else a goat's beard. In either case they are fond of wearing hairs coming up to the corners of their mouths. Straw hats or white hats are universally worn in the hot season. Smoking is very much practiced.

These comments of seventy years ago, which now will cause wonder and amusement rather than the resentment our grandfathers would have felt, carry an interesting reminder of the forgotten antiquity of the prohibition movement in this country. "It appears," wrote the distinguished young Britisher, "that the temperance societies do harm in America. They have met with enthusiastic support. In Maine the legislature has passed a law forbidding liquor to be sold, so that the most vexatious proceedings must be carried on to prevent it. The people of Maine have earned the name of maniacs in consequence. This specimen of bureaucratic interference appears strange in so free a country."

This brings to mind the notable fact that it was never "such a free country" as wondering foreigners have imagined, except theoretically and in some particulars. From the outset the Puritans were eager to deny themselves whatever they cared little about if by so doing they could harness and order the steps of their neighbors.

SLANG IN SCHOOL.

We read that "Chicago teachers rise to the defense of slang," contending that "sometimes the shorter, uglier phrase goes to the point far more emphatically and expressively than the round-about elegant expression." There is news of other teachers of like mind who have ventured even to use slang in class, but there is accompanying news of pupils who speak derisively of these teachers on the ground that their slang is old-fashioned and practically obsolete. This is a point which the venturing teachers might do well to bear in mind. The popular argot of American youth is constantly subject to revision and change, new words and phrases being rapidly substituted for those that have enjoyed a brief vogue. Most slang words or phrases go the way of all flesh in a comparatively short time. No sooner have older folk learned the meaning of and begun to use them than they are superseded by puzzling new expressions. So, when the oldster fatuously imagines that he is "up to date," the youngster is laughing at him for continuing to be a "back number."

For this reason, if for no other, teachers would be wise to stick to English. And there are other reasons. The "round-about elegant expression"—which need not be round-about, by the way—will not only inspire more respect for the teacher personally but will gradually give the pupils some idea of the beauties of the English language and its power of accurate expression when intelligently employed by one with a not too limited vocabulary. It is the very limited English vocabulary of the semi-educated or mentally indolent that provides pack-horse slang phrases with the larger part of their wide field.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do bears live all over?
2. Do fishes look after their young?
3. Has the wild turkey, Meleagris gallopavo silvestris, ever been known in the Western provinces of Canada? If not, what is the bird called "wild turkey" claimed to have been seen in huge flocks in Sask in recent years?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do any birds ever attack worms' nests in trees?

Yes, cuckoos do, both black and yellow billed varieties. They are rare in their fondness of hairy and spiny caterpillars, which most birds avoid, and eat so many that often their stomachs become coated with hairs. A cuckoo has been known to take its stand next to a caterpillar web and eat from three to four dozen caterpillars at a meal.

2. How often must old alligators be fed?

Captive specimens in zoos are usually fed about three days apart. They take fowl, larger fishes, and hunks of raw beef. Their feeding normally depends on temperature, and in the well equipped tank the water is kept tepid, as near as possible to the natural temperature of the alligator's native bayou.

3. How often should plants be watered?

According to their needs, and the condition of the atmosphere. Plants absorb moisture by their tiniest root-hairs, and it is better to keep them constantly and moderately at work, than to let them shrink from dryness, and then suddenly dilate with quantites of moisture. The porous common flower pot dries out very rapidly and dries the roots with it. A pot sunk in dirt in a larger receptacle will do better; but one stood in a jardiniere, with a layer of air and darkness, will usually mold.

To Drill Hole in Glass.

An experienced glass cutter says that the sharp corner of a freshly-broken point of a file is one of the best drilling tools for making small holes in glass. Keep the drill wet with turpentine while using. Another method for making holes in glass similar in thickness to that of window pane is as follows: First make a hole of the desired size in a piece of wood. Fasten it with beeswax upon the glass. Then pour hot lead into the opening. The hot lead will drill a hole through the glass.

What Makes Some Furs Costly.

When we hear of fur wraps costing $40,000 or $50,000, we sometimes wonder what it is that makes them so valuable. Wraps costing this much are usually made of Russian sable, and they are the work of months—sometimes of years. Thousands of skins must be looked over to select those which match. Nature never makes the skins of two animals identical. They vary either in quality or color, or both, and it takes experts to pick those which can be used together in a single garment. Not only do experts select the skins and fashion the design, but only the most daring trappers go deep into the forest of Barguzin, where the finest Russian sables are found. The darker the color the more valuable the pelt, and as the light fades the fur, it is only in the densest part of the wood that the best skins are found.

Land of Giant Geraniums.

In Colombia, South America, the geraniums climb fifteen feet or more; sweet peas and roses ten feet; wall roses bloom both in spring and in fall.

JACOBSONS ARE OUT OF LEAGUE

The bowlers of the Jacobson shirt factory, who have forfeited two games in the Mercantile Bowling League at the Y. M. C. A., have been dropped from the league, and a team from the New York Telephone Company will take their place.

Two games will be rolled this evening. The K-M will bowl the Lace Mills at 7:40 o'clock and at 8:15 o'clock Fullers and the Trust Company will clash.

WHO MAKES THE PROPOSAL?

According to Smoking Room Authority, It is the Woman Who Generally Suggests Marriage.

The contented somnolence of the after-dinner group around the smoking room fire was disturbed by the noisy dropping of a magazine.

"A silly love story, all sentimental speeches," explained the reader. "Seems very unreal to me. But I suppose I can't judge of these things. No man knows, for instance, how another proposes."

"Men never do propose," growled the misogynist sprawling in the roomiest of the armchairs. "Ninety-nine women out of a hundred take the proposal for granted, and I'm ready to bet that not one of you proposed to your wife."

There was a brief silence as each man musingly turned the dim pages of his memory. Then one man laughed and said: "Now, when I think of it you are quite right in my case. I didn't propose to Alice. She was one of a large, lively family, and all the brothers and sisters were my friends. Gradually it happened that Alice was my partner at golf or tennis more often than any of her sisters. When I announced that I had been made junior partner in my firm, Alice's mother kissed me and said: 'I'm so glad, Tom. Now you and Alice can be married at last.' So we were—and a jolly good thing it was for me."

"When you think of my quiet little wife," said Brown, the boisterous, masterful one of the group, "you might imagine that I clubbed her into submission; but, as a matter of fact, she married me. We had known one another from childhood, and one day when she saw me she said, 'You have a button off your coat and you are going to have influenza. I'd better marry you when you get well again just to keep you in order.' That's all the proposing that took place in our case. But what about Grayson there? A man who earns his living by writing short stories must surely have said something poetic when he proposed."

"I didn't," said Grayson, as he refilled his pipe. "I was helping Kitty to distribute favors at her sister's wedding. 'I suppose we'll have to go through this horrible fuss some day,' I groaned. 'Yes, I suppose we shall,' she said."—Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Pittsburgh Touches France.

War orphans and other needy children of France are made self-supporting and at the same time restored to health at the Pittsburgh Farm school at Fontaineroux, France. The school was established through the donation of $42,000 by the public school children of Pittsburgh. A three-year course in agriculture is offered. The Pittsburgh Junior Red Cross has appropriated $15,000 to aid in the erection of dormitories housing 60 children of this school.

Fifteen other agricultural schools in France have received contributions from the Junior American Red Cross, most of the money being devoted to improvement of the living quarters of the students. These schools are mainly supported by the French government, and teach scientific farming and common-school branches to boys of twelve to seventeen years, who would otherwise have to enter workshops and factories.

Holland's Electrical Development.

Reports from Holland show that electrical development is progressing rapidly there, including plans for electrifying the entire railway system of the country. While this project has not been definitely decided upon, a commission, appointed to study electrification in the United States and other countries, has reported favorably, recommending a system operated by a 1,500-volt direct current. The province of Zeeland, heretofore lacking general electric service, is to be supplied by a concern financed jointly by the communities and the provincial government. The commission estimates that the cost of similar service for the whole country would be approximately $2,250,000, of which $400,000 has already been subscribed. The plan is for a gradual extension of existing service.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Booth Tarkington's Youth.

Young Booth Tarkington was never a conspicuous success as a financier, remembers this writer whose works have won him rank as one of America's most brilliant novelists. "Up to the time I was thirty I earned a total of exactly $67.87½," says Mr. Tarkington. "And that included money I received for a prize essay at college and 7½ cents for shoveling snow, when I was eleven years old. The reason for the half a cent is this: Another boy and I shoveled the snow and received 15 cents for the job. This we divided; 7 cents each; then bought a stick of candy with the extra cent and split the candy. First I intended to be an artist, not writer."—From the Argonaut.

Horse in Egyptian History.

No mention of the horse occurs in ancient history before the close of the Twelfth Egyptian dynasty, and a careful study of the palaces of the Pharaohs has failed to reveal any representation of the horse. It was believed that the horse was introduced among the Egyptians after the invasion of lower Egypt, about 2000 B. C., by the Hyksos, or shepherd kings, who appear to have been a Tartar race. It is, however, only after the expulsion of these hated Asiatic conquerors, that the horse is found depicted on the Egyptian monuments in military scenes in which horses and war-chariots play a conspicuous part in determining the great changes in the tactics of the Egyptian army. Moreover, the ancient historians, Herodotus, Diodorus Siculus, and Strabo, are unanimous in omitting any mention of the appearance of the horse prior to the epoch of the Hyksos invasion.

Booze Eats Lining of Sewer.

Prohibition authorities will be asked to pay for repairs to the city sewers of Sawtelle. The city claims that confiscated liquors, hooch and jackass brandy, poured into the sewer by the officers, removed the lining of the sewer for a distance of 300 feet.

The liquor was disposed of in this manner by Marshal Mosley and Assistant Marshal Pierce on orders of Federal Commissioner Arnold. City officials who happened to be examining the spot, discovered the damage.—Los Angeles Examiner.

NEW BRIDGE AT HIGGINSVILLE

Mayor Canfield Suggests Common Council Appoint Committee To Meet With Board Of Public Works and Officials of Town of Ulster To Consider Matter.

The Higginsville bridge over the Esopus creek has outlived its usefulness and should be replaced with a new bridge, according to City Engineer Codwise in a report to Mayor Canfield recently, and at the regular monthly meeting of the common council the mayor sent in a communication suggesting that a committee of three be appointed to meet with the officials of the town of Ulster and the board of public works to consider the matter of replacing the present structure.

Mayor Canfield's suggestion was approved by the council, and President Dittus stated he would appoint the committee later.

Mayor Canfield's letter read as follows:

"I have had the City Engineer make an examination of the bridge over the Esopus creek connecting with the Washington Avenue viaduct. He reports to me that the bridge has outlived its usefulness and should be replaced with a new bridge.

"The matter of a new bridge was taken up seriously about five years ago. The town of Ulster owns one-half of the bridge and would be required to pay one-half of the cost of a new bridge. The bridge was strengthened for temporary purposes at that time. The carrying capacity of the bridge is now limited and such limited capacity will decrease.

"The increase in motor truck traffic and the large increase in vehicular traffic which will result from the completion of the bridge over the Rondout creek, and the present condition of the bridge, makes it necessary that the question of the new bridge be given immediate serious consideration.

"I suggest and recommend that a committee of three be appointed from your Honorable Body to meet with the Board of Public Works and the Supervisor and officials of the Town of Ulster to take up and examine into the matter."

Other matters taken up will be found elsewhere.

DECORATING THE TABLE.

Using things at hand for decoration shows the real initiative of the housewife. Any one with money may decorate a table acceptably, but taste is far superior to a full purse without it. Autumn leaves and fruits are as beautiful as the most costly hothouse flowers and, with thought in arrangement, may be even more artistic.

In many homes the holiday feast would not be properly started without oysters on the half shell, or served in a block of ice. A lemon shell filled with relish or cocktail sauce may accompany the dish of oysters.

The turkey is the main dish, of course, and all the meal centers around it. If oysters are not served for the first course they may be used as a stuffing, otherwise any desired stuffing or forcemeat may be used. Chestnuts are especially good and, usually, well liked.

Cranberry sauce, or molded cranberries, are usually served with the turkey, as they are especially good for biliousness.

Cranberry Jelly.—Put through the meat chopper, after washing and picking over the berries; add one cupful of water to each quart of berries, and cook slowly. When the berries are nearly cooked, add sugar to taste, then cook slowly until thick. It takes less sugar to sweeten the berries when partly cooked. The fruit may be put through a sieve or not, as desired.

Cream of Celery Soup.—This is a good soup to precede the turkey, if a soup is desired. Chop two cupfuls of the coarse stalks of celery and cook in a small amount of water until well cooked. Put through a sieve, using all the liquid in which the celery was cooked. Scald one quart of milk, thicken with one tablespoonful each of flour and butter, cooked together; add with the celery puree; season with salt, white pepper and a teaspoonful of onion juice, or the grated onion may be used. Cook until smooth. Just before serving, add a well beaten egg, and serve in hot cups with croutons.

Riccobono Pupils to Dance.

Some sixty pupils of Miss Emilia Riccobono will give an exhibition of fancy dancing at the opera house in the near future. A very interesting and delightful program is being prepared which will include dancing by the "Baby Class," composed of little tots only two and a half and three years old. The entertainment will be given for the benefit of the Girl and Boy Scouts of Kingston.

Candy as Well as Turkey.

There will be a sale of home made candy at the chapel of the First Reformed Church this evening, at the same time as the turkey dinner. One of the Sunday school classes having pledged $20 to the Near East Relief will hold the sale and they will have some specially delicious candy to offer their friends.

DANGER IN LACK OF RED CELLS

Weakened Blood a Debility Gude's Pepto-Mangan Overcomes.

Blood becomes feeble when there is a lack of red blood cells. Fatigue always causes the blood to collect waste matter from all parts of the body. In normal health, after a good sleep and a good nourishing meal the blood throws off the poisons and is restored to its normal condition. But when sleep is neglected and the waste matter from fatigue and overwork are not thrown off, the blood becomes weak and poisonous waste matter takes the place of red cells. Faces become pale, physical strength weakens, appetite is poor, and a phase of debility develops.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken steadily for a while makes blood rich and red. The red cells carry life-giving oxygen to the entire system and drive off the poisonous waste matter. Druggists sell Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. Take only the genuine, with the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package.—Advertisement.

MONEY AVAILABLE FOR REALTY LOANS

Loan Agency of Prudential Insurance Company Established Here With That Company's Huge Resources Back of It—Will Loan on Mortgage Under Two Payment Plans.

William F. Abernethy with offices at 293 Wall street has been appointed real estate loan agent for the Prudential Insurance Company of America to place loans on property in Kingston. This branch of the Prudental Insurance Company is a new one through which it will be possible for property owners to secure loans upon dwellings in approved localities in amounts not to exceed sixty-five per cent of the value of the property, as valued by the company appraisers, secured by mortgages maturing according to the plan under which the loan is made. There is an option as to the method of payment of these loans.

The appraisers for this locality which have been appointed by the company are: Dr. E. H. Loughran, Edwin L. Angle, City Assessor Morris Block and Fred J. Roosa. Property upon which loans are made will be appraised by the company appraisers and upon their findings loans will be made.

Kingston is the only city in New York state of its size in which a loan agency has been established. Agencies have been established in larger towns. Application blanks have been received by Mr. Abernethy and may be secured by applicants by calling at the office.

The establishing of the instalment mortgage plan, as it is termed by the company, will provide an enormous amount of available money for small home purchasers as the amount of money which the Prudential Insurance Company has for this purpose is almost unlimited. This is the first time that any company with the resources of the Prudential Insurance Company has made their great wealth available for small loans. The whole idea of the company is to invest their money in small sums and make home buying and home owning for the average family a safe sure thing. It has been the custom for companies with large amounts of money to invest to place it in large loans on large properties. The Prudential loans on no property where the property and buildings are valued at less than $2,000. Instalment loans are not made for over $8,000.

The loan may be secured in two ways. One the monthly installment mortgage plan secured by mortgages maturing in five years, on which principal and interest are payable in monthly instalments. Loans of this kind are made only upon desirably located dwellings, arranged for not more than two families, with cellar underneath, bath, water, gas or electricity.

Interest is charged at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, and credit is given borrower each month for instalment paid on account of principal, interest being reduced each month accordingly.

Payments on account of principal are so arranged that 6 per cent of the principal is to be paid each year. The borrower may pay more than the monthly instalment on principal, as the company agrees to accept additional payments, not less than $100, on any interest-paying day, such additional payments, however, to be multiples of the monthly instalment payment.

If the borrower makes payment or payments on account of principal during the term of the loan, in excess of the monthly instalments, for an amount sufficient to reduce the principal 30 per cent, the company will consider a request to continue the balance of loan as a straight mortgage with interest, payable semi-annually, at a rate then to be agreed upon.

A written application is required, to be made upon blanks furnished by the company, giving an accurate description of the property, the amount of loan desired, owner's valuation, rental, and amount of fire and tornado insurance.

A loan made under this plan for $1,200 would cost $12 a month for the first monthly payment and gradually decrease until the 59th payment, the fifth year would be $10.26 and the final payment of the mortgage would be but $850.23, it having been reduced from $1,200 at the rate of 6 per cent per year through small monthly payments of $6 on the principal.

The other form of loan is the monthly instalment amortized mortgage plan under which payment is made each month for 142 months, when the mortgage matures.

Loans of this kind are made only upon desirably located modern dwellings, arranged for not more than two families, with bath, water, gas or electric light connection.

Credit is given borrower each month for instalment paid on account of principal, interest being reduced each month accordingly.

The borrower may pay more than the monthly instalment on principal, as the company agrees to accept additional payments, not less than $100, on any interest-payment day, such additional payments, however, to be multiples of the monthly instalment payment.

Loans are not made upon dwelling properties where land and buildings together are valued at less than $2,000. Instalment loans are not made for over $8,000.

A loan of $1,000 would cost $12 the first month gradually decreasing until the final payments would be but a trifle over $7. Under this form the entire mortgage and interest is payable in small monthly payments and in effect would be the same as the present Building and Loan mortgage.

This new policy of the Prudential Insurance Company will undoubtedly pave a way for a great many people with moderate means to own their own homes in Kingston. Full details of the plan may be secured from the loan agent.

Convicts Operate Game Farm.

The state of Washington maintains the only game farm in the world which is operated by convicts, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Great numbers of pheasants are raised by trusties on the penitentiary grounds, for distribution throughout the state. The men work as freely as though they were not under confinement.

Beware of Carelessness.

The unusual man is sometimes careless; the average man is frequently careless; the shiftless man is habitually careless. Don't indulge in carelessness; it breeds ruin and disaster.

Boy's Heart in This Essay.

From a schoolboy's essay on soap: "Soap is a kind of stuff made in cakes what you can't eat. It smells good and tastes awful. Soap always tastes worst when you get it in your eye. Father says Eskimos don't never use soap; I wish I was an Eskimo."

Green Music Easy on Eye.

Music printed on dark green paper, with the notes and staff in white, is being used to reduce eye strain says Popular Mechanics. It is particularly designed for use in theaters, where bad lighting causes constant strain on the musicians' eyes. In semi-darkness the notes seem to stand out in relief.

First Artificial Eyes.

Artificial eyes originated in Egypt. At first they were made of gold and silver, then of copper and ivory. In the Sixteenth century porcelain was the substance used, and the makers advertised themselves by stamping their names and addresses on the white of the eye.

Warped Doors.

Doors and drawers often swell in the damp weather, making it impossible to open them. Light a large lamp and leave it in front of the swollen article for about an hour, and at the end of that time the wood will have shrunk so that the drawer or door will open easily.

Tavern Keeper With Degree of Doctor.

Believed to be the oldest licensed tavern in the city of London, Ye Old Dr. Butler's Head in Mason avenue, Coleman street, E. C., was reopened recently. It was founded in 1616 by William Butler, whose ale so took the fancy of King James I that he bestowed on the taverner the degree of "Doctor."—London Daily Mail.

Here is Miss M. Sinclair, said to have the smallest waist of any woman in London, wearing a dress of the Elizabethan period. The committee in charge of the recent Devonshire House matinee, in Lonon, tried to find a woman who could wear a dress of the Medici period, when the thirteen-inch waist was the standard. Many small-waisted women responded, but none could squeeze into the gown. Miss Sinclair was closest to the requirements. Her waist measurement is fourteen and one-half-inches.

EMANUEL BAZAAR OPENS MERRILY

The bazaar of the Ladies' Aid Societ of Temple Emanuel was largely attended Tuesday night at St. Mary's Hall. The booths were beautifully decorated and were literally stocked with valuable articles, some of which came from friends in other cities and states. A generous check and other gifts were received from Martin Cantine. The main proceeds of the evening came from the sale of articles at auction, which at the same time, brought much merriment. Ralph Cohen paid ten dollars for a cake baked by Mrs. Harry Jacobs and donated it to be sold over again. Dr. S. Levitas paid almost an equal amount for one cigar, which was given to Dr. Kaplan and which the rabbi returned to be resold. Mr. Blankfield paid liberal sums for cakes which Mrs. Blankfield divided among friends. Dr. S. D. Wolf outbid everyone in order to get a handsome pair of military brushes, the other bidders being mostly bald headed men. M. M. Schoenfeld of Saugerties cornered nearly all the cigars, excepting the one Dr. Levitas was determined to get "if it cost him a hundred dollars." Morris Samter acted as auctioneer and bidder at the same time, assisted by W. H. Dornbusch.

There was also some aesthetic dancing by Rhoda Schoenfeld and Mabel Kirshner, two beautiful young girls who are perfect little artists. Master Joseph Block gave some serious and some humorous recitations, which delighted old and young. Dr. Bernard M. Kaplan in opening the bazaar thanked Dean Hickey in behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society for the use of the hall, which was generously offered to Dr. A. A. Stern for the ladies of Temple Emanuel.

The ladies in charge of the booths are: Mrs. Harris Brown, chairman; Mrs. A. Vogel, Mrs. Roy Dornbusch, Mrs. Ellis Silvette, Mrs. H. Marblestone, Mrs. Jacob Mollot, Mrs. A. Solomon, Mrs. A. Katz, Mrs. B. Bergman, Mrs. B. M. Kaplan, Miss A. Elting, Mrs. Harry Jacobs, Mrs. D. Weil, Mrs. M. Block, Mrs. A. Mollot, Mrs. W. A. Rosenthal, Mrs. J. Nathan, Mrs. Dr. S. Levitas, Mrs. Ben Wolff, Mrs. A. S. Kapewich, Mrs. B. Mann, Mrs. Sam Mann and Mrs. S. Feldman.

There was a matinee for children this afternoon, and the closing this evening. Special features have been prepared for the evening. Jacob Mollot's orchestra will render the music.

STANDING IN MOOSE DIAMOND RING CONTEST.

Miss Longto of 130 Delaware avenue, Kingston, has entered the race and in the three days since she started has a total of 1,080 votes.

Mrs. H. E. O'Neill advised the diamond ring committee through her husband that she had to withdraw from the race due to other matters which were occupying her time and on account of Christmas shopping.

The contest will remain open until Saturday night, December 17, at 10 o'clock, when the announcement will be made as to the winner and the prizes given out.

WOMENS AUXILIARY OF Y. M. C. A. MEETS FRIDAY

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will be held Friday, December 9th, at 3 p. m.

The business meeting will be of special interest on account of the report of the auxiliary sale held December 2nd. Each chairman will make a report of the amount that was received from her table. In spite of the day being very rainy the attendance was good and the sale was a successful one.

The Rev. R. P. Ingersoll who is the new pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will be the speaker at the Auxiliary meeting Friday. While he has a very full schedule he is anxious to do everything possible to support and assist the many worthy organizations of Kingston and consented to give an informal talk for the Auxiliary.

Mrs. F. S. Morris, contralto, will be on the musical program.

Have You Tried to Draw on Glass?

To write on a glass surface it is necessary to impart a certain degree of roughness to the surface. After repeated trials of various roughness, a varnish of sugar was found to be the best method of obtaining this roughness. Equal parts of white and brown sugars should be dissolved in water until the solution has a consistency equal to that of thin sirup. Alcohol is added as a drier, and the varnish applied to hot glass plates.—Popular Science Monthly.

IDEA OF "HUMOR" UNCHANGED

Tricks Which Caused Discomfort to Victim Are Not by Any Means a Novelty.

Disgruntled moderns who comment cynically on the people who flatten their noses against the windows of the trick and novelty shops, complaining that these represent the intellectual attainments of the American multitude, may easily modify their views by a trip to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Perhaps the most widely known of the novelty shop commodities is the glass with a small hole in its side through which the water trickles on its unsuspecting user.

Such a trick as this, say the high brows, is for Americans the highest known form of humor. Perhaps they're right, but anyhow this invention is by no means a modern one.

At the time in England when Addison, Steele, Swift, Defoe and other more or less well known literary lights of the Queen Anne period were writing their greatest works for the edification of the world, the fashionable English glassmakers were turning out wineglasses with the same little perforation in the side.

History does not record whether the onlookers shouted with glee at the poor victim in those days, but it's more than a fair bet that they did.

The trick glass of that period as shown at the museum was an even more ingenious device than that of the present, for around the rim of the glass was a border of flowers, in the center of one of which was the perforation.

On the side opposite the hole the flowers were arranged in a special pattern which informed the man who was in on the joke where he might safely put his lips.—New York Sun.

WORTHY OF HIGHEST HONORS

"Made All Americans His Debtors," Declares New York Newspaper, in Eulogy of Jay Cooke.

It is altogether fitting that Duluth, Minn., should be the site of a statue, such as has just been unveiled within its boundaries, in honor of Jay Cooke. Mr. Cooke is known as the "Father of Duluth," the city Proctor Knott described as "the zenith city of the unsalted seas." The Northwest owes much to Mr. Cooke. But a memorial to Jay Cooke would be appropriate in any American settlement. His financial genius was freely put at the service of the government during and after the Civil war. His energy was spent in raising money to support the armies and the navy. He was as ingenious and as persistent in his task of filling the treasury as was the most modern Liberty bond salesman. He was a tower of strength in the days after the war when the edifice of public credit was undergoing repair. He made all Americans his debtors. Such men as Jay Cooke seldom receive during their lives the recognition that is due to them. Time puts them in their proper relation to events in public understanding.—New York Herald.

Too Far.

Cornelius Vanderbilt objected at a dinner in New York to the American rule of politeness whereby men pull out and then push in ladies' chairs as the latter seat themselves at table.

"That," he said, "is carrying our table manners too ridiculously far. It reminds me of the Texas father.

"A Texas father was dining with his son in a Texas hotel, and in the course of dinner the son got into an argument with a cowboy. The cowboy called the son an offensive name, a very offensive name, and the young fellow grabbed his knife in his fist and started around the table to be avenged.

"But his father seized him by the coat-tail.

"'Ain't ye got no table manners?' the old man hissed.

"'But, pop, ye heard what he called me, didn't ye?'

"'Yes, I heard all right, but that ain't no ground fer yer forgettin' yer table manners. Put down that there knife and go at him with yer fork.'"

Radium Versus Knife.

The [illegible] surgery" on the face was described in papers read recently before the convention of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology. Radium needles are among the instruments used in this work, as explained by Dr. F. B. Heck and Dr. William E. Clark of Pittsburg.

With them, according to the doctors, birth marks, tumors and other malignant growths may be made to disappear. It was said the advantages of this method over knife surgery were that the growths seldom reappeared. —Philadelphia Dispatch to the New York Tribune.

Animals Carry Own Light.

There are 26 orders of animals that are self-luminous. These include many forms of protozoa, hydroids, jellyfish, bryozoa, [illegible] and oligochaete worms, brittle stars, crustacea, myriapods, insects, mollusca, primitive chordata and fishes. None of the luminous species inhabit fresh water, all being terrestrial or marine. The luminosity is sometimes shown by both larvae and adults, and in a few instances by eggs. In experiments made, two substances have been isolated—luciferase and enzyme, and luciferin, a protein—and the light appears to result from bringing these together in the presence of oxygen and water.

Book Mart of Central Asia.

Bokhara has for ages been a center of learning and religious life. The madrasa libraries, some of which were very rich, have been scattered and lost or confiscated. Afghan, Persian, Armenian and Turkish bibliophiles seek rare books there.

Australasia is a geographical term used rather loosely by some authorities to denote all of the islands of the Southern Pacific, including Australia, New Guinea, New Zealand and Melanesia; while others confine it to Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand and the Fiji islands.

In Memoriam.

In sad and loving memory of my husband, Moses Lawson, who departed this life Dec. 7, 1920.

Soft and bright the stars are shining on a sad and lonely grave, where lies the one loved so dearly, whom we tried but could not save. Days of sadness still come o'er us, tears in silence ofttimes flow, and with hearts all torn with anguish cries, "Our father's will not ours be done." Sad and sudden was his parting but his memory will be cherished as long as life and memory lasts.

NEW YORK PRODUCE MARKET

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 7.—The state department of farms and markets today reported the largest quantity of any one variety of grapes to be sold at auction were offered yesterday, totalling about 74,620 kegs of California Emperor grapes. They brought as high as $7.25 per keg containing about 35 pounds and as low as $3.

Continued light receipts of cabbage, carrots and apples resulted in no change in prices. Heavy receipts of onions caused prices for ordinary stock to decline. Fancy celery sold more freely at slightly higher prices. Market for potatoes continued dull with no improvement.

The U. S. Bureau of Markets reports that the seasonal dullness for cheese continued in evidence in distributing centers of the country during the last week. Any increased movement that took place at primary markets, was in the nature of small orders as car lot business was still very quiet. Stocks bought ahead by many distributors in anticipation of the railroad strike, have largely gone into consumptive channels. The quality of current make of cheese is becoming less satisfactory each week.

At 2 p. m. the regular meeting of the society will be held and Mrs. Byles will speak at this meeting.

PONCKHOCKIE'S NEGRO ROBBER NOT YET CAUGHT

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of the tall thin negro clad in ragged clothes who, according to Mrs. James Weidner of No. 180 Delaware avenue, entered the kitchen of her home Tuesday morning and after choking her robbed the house of $40 and then disappeared. As soon as the affair was reported to police headquarters Chief Wood got busy and sent out a general alarm. Saugerties was notified and the state troopers got busy as well as the East Kingston authorities, but despite an all afternoon search not a single negro answering the description furnished by Mrs. Weidner was found.

The house in which the Weidners reside is the two family house on the left hand side of Delaware avenue, just below Cordts Hose Company house. On the lower floor resides Mrs. Charles Bouchard. She was out getting some meat from the Italian butcher from East Kingston at the time.

When Mrs. Weidner gave the alarm the butcher armed himself with his cleaver and he and Mrs. Bouchard rushed upstairs but found the rooms empty.

304 Wall St., Kingston.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades of Milton avenue, Highland, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Alma, to D. H. Randall of Tarrytown, New York.

Sherman-Wood.

Clayton F. Sherman, former principal of the high school at Highland, was married last week to Miss Jennie Wood of Hyde Park. She is a sister of Mrs. Russell Fisher of Highland.

To Wed in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Tice of 2731 Helen avenue, Detroit, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Bernice J., to Ernest H. Stingle of 421 Theodore street, Detroit, at their home on Saturday, December 24, at 2 p. m. Dinner will be served during the early part of the evening, after which the young couple will leave on a short honeymoon, motoring to Youngstown, Ohio. Mr. Stingle was formerly of 59 Elmendorf street, this city. Both are employed by the Cadillac Motor Car Company.

Thompson-Roesing.

The charming home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Harrison of Maiden Lane was the scene of a quiet, but delightful wedding ceremony on Tuesday at noon when Mrs. Mary L. Roesing of Chicago, sister of Mrs. Harrison, became the bride of George F. Thompson of Seattle, Washington. Amidst beautiful decorations of roses, carnations and chrysanthemums, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Following a wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for an extended trip through the east and Ohio, before returning to Seattle, Washington, (where they will make their home) the first of the new year.

Lowell Club.

Mrs. Van Buren entertained the Lowell Club this week. Mrs. Baragwanath had the paper for the day, and skillfully handled her subject, "The Japanese Family and Home." The appreciated paper was followed by an oral sketch, "The Household Shrine," given by Mrs. Hobson. Mrs. Teller then gave a reading of a poem, "Household Furnishings,' after which Mrs. Hale gave an admirable review of "The Seat of the Sun." There were also musical numbers appropriately Japanese in subject or composition given by Erastus Osgood on the mandolin and by Mrs. Van Buren at the piano. The club completed its arrangements for the tuberculosis seal sale. Next Tuesday the Lowell Club will meet with Mrs. Delaplane.

Garden Club.

On Tuesday afternoon the Ulster Garden Club held its last meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Harold King on Fair street. The program for next year was read and the dates assigned. Perhaps the outstanding feature of the day was the awarding of prizes for the gardens contest between the various club members. The qualifications to participation in the contest as to flower gardens called for a lot fifty by one hundred feet, carried through at the least expense; having flowers the most suitable to the lot and surroundings; and showing the most continuous bloom. There were nine contestants and prizes were won as follows: First prize, Mrs. Herman A. Kelley; second prize, Mrs. Spencer L. Dawes; third prize, Mrs. George Washburn; fourth prize, Mrs. Nellson Parker, Woodstock. The plans of these prize-winning gardens are now at the Kingston City Library where they may be seen by others who are interested in having ideal flower gardens. There will be no more regular meetings of the Ulster Garden Club until early spring.

THURSDAY FEAST OF IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

Five Masses to Be Celebrated at St. Mary's.

Thursday is the feast of the Immaculate Conception, a Holiday of obligation in the Roman Catholic Churches throughout the United States, and this title is taken from its patron saint.

In St. Mary's Church five Masses will be celebrated at the following hours, 5:30, 6, 7, 8 and a high Mass at 9 o'clock. This afternoon and evening a Redemptorist father from Esopus will assist in hearing confessions.

Saves Precious Radium.

The radium used in making luminous paint may amount in a year to a whole grain. Even that is really a heavy drain on our tiny supply. Luckily, science has discovered a substitute in mesothorium, a by-product in the manufacture of incandescent gas mantles.

Jud Tunkins.

Jud Tunkins says that when a city is crowded with visitors from all parts of the world it's lucky you don't need an interpreter to understand an automobile horn.

Edgar A. G. Prochnik, new Austrian Charge d'Affaires in Washington, photographed at the capitol, where he is preparing to take up his new duties. The State Department has approved of his selection, and his credentials are now en route from Vienna. Mr. Prochnik has been in this country for several weeks.

Public Telephonic Announcements.

Telephonic announcers are loud-speaking telephone receivers used for announcing trains in a railway station, paging people in a hotel, calling employees in a factory or store, advertising goods displayed in a store window, etc. As many as 100 of these instruments are sometimes operated from one transmitter, so that simultaneous announcements can be made in all parts of a big establishment.

Newspaper Consumption.

If all the daily newspapers in the United States were cut into strips of paper as wide as the regular daily paper they would form a ribbon 40,000,000 miles long or more than half the distance to the sun. These same newspapers would also make a strip two feet wide belting the world 16,000 times.—The Thrift Magazine.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

L. D. Bishop of Margaretville, who has been stopping at Fischer's Hotel, returned home Tuesday.

J. F. Burns, manager of the J. F. Murphy Shows of Greenville, S. C., is spending the holidays with his sister, Mrs. Robert Murphy, on East Chester street.

Frederick J. Kalaway of Stamford, Conn., agent for the American Railway Express Company, of that city, who was seriously ill, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home.

Little Edna Ruth Sickler, who has been seriously ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sickler, No. 2 Foxhall avenue, is slowly improving under the care of Doctor Holcomb.

Hat Once Used as Symbol.

The earliest hat was a symbol—away back 6,000 years ago, when the Egyptians invented it, to show the rank of men. And then, along the Tigris and Euphrates hats appeared—as helmets of fighting men. The archaic picture of Naram-Sin, ruler of Agade, shows him in a helmet with curved horns. Cloth and fur came first—hats modeled after the old tiger skin idea—and then, legend runs, St. Clement invented the mode of felting rabbits fur. Cloth hoods and mailed caps, also developed through armor. The more general use of hats seems to have originated in England with the Norman conquest, 1066 A. D., and in the Thirteenth century hats with brims appeared. In 1254 Pope Innocent IV authorized the wearing of hats by cardinals. Medieval plumed hats appeared about this time.

The Scotch National Instrument.

The bagpipe, Scotland's national instrument, is of great antiquity, having been used by the ancient Greeks and Hebrews. Scotland is by no means its original home, for it is thought to have been introduced into that country after William the Conqueror entered England in 1066. In the Fifteenth century it was among the favorite instruments in Germany and elsewhere in Europe, evidence shows. Though fallen generally into disuse, with the growth of musical refinement, the bagpipe is still popular among the country people of Poland, Italy, France and Ireland, and of course among the Highlanders of Scotland.

KINGSLEY SHOT AT A BURGLAR

That Had Entered Their Apartments In Cambridge—Mrs. Kingsley and A Friend Were Playing Cards When They Heard Some One In Kitchen.

One of the Boston newspapers of November 27 carries the following interesting story regarding a burglar who broke into the apartments of Mrs. Rose Kingsley, a former resident of Kingston, and who was fired at by her son, Chet, but got away. The account follows:

Cambridge, Mass., police today searched for a burglar who made his escape amid a volley of shots, after he had been discovered by Mrs. Rose Kingsley in her home, apartment 4, in the fashionable Bay State apartments at 1572 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

The shots were fired by the woman's son, Chester Kingsley, as the burglar was climbing out a window. None of the shots took effect, it is believed.

Investigation showed the burglar had entered through a bedroom window. Mrs. Kingsley and a Mrs. Mason, a friend, were playing cards, while Kingsley was on a couch in the same room. Mrs. Kingsley heard a noise, and got up to go into the kitchen to investigate.

She saw a man standing by a dressing table, and screamed to her son for help.

She then snatched up a revolver, which lay on the piano, with an automatic pistol. She was so frightened she could not discharge the weapon.

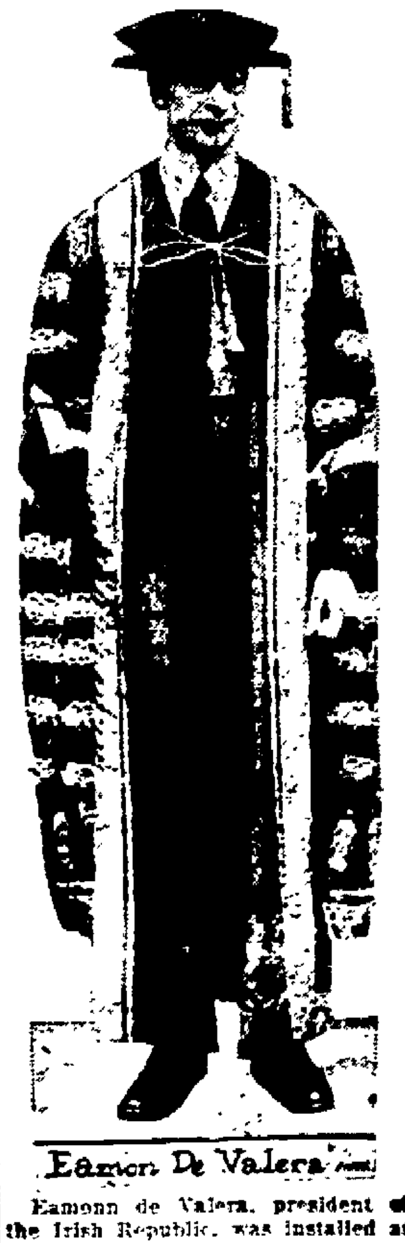
Kingsley jumped from the couch, picked up the automatic and ran to his mother's aid Seeing the burglar disappearing through the open window he fired.

As the burglar jumped to escape, he caught his foot in an iron spike of a fence inclosing a cellar window just below the bedroom window. The burglar tripped and fell, landing heavily. He picked himself up and ran.

Kingsley did not believe he hit the burglar, as one of the shots made a hole in the window shade in a place which indicated it had gone to one side of the intruder. Blood stains were found on the ground near the window.

As the burglar disappeared, Kingsley called the police. The neighborhood was soon in an uproar. Policemen could find no trace of the man.

The burglar was well dressed, tall and weighed about 175, according to Mrs. Kingsley. She did not see his face. He had taken a suit and overcoat belonging to Kingsley. He had pawed over some jewelry in a box on Kingsley's dresser, but none of it was missing."



Eamon De Valera

The ceremony was preceded by a procession of university professors and others. The photo shows President de Valera in his robes after the ceremony.

Verbal Curiosities.

A Kansas man has collected a lot of words and expressions peculiar to that state. Among them are:

Compulsory (meaning necessity or compulsion). "It was a case of compulsory, so I went."

Dangling—"He went dangling across the street."

Flees in one's nose—Chimerical notions.

Socliate—To calculate, suppose or reckon.

Jubersome—Dubious, doubtful.

Scald (to get good results)—"I baked bread today and got a good scald on it."

Dead in the shell—"If I have to go without sleep I'll be just dead in the shell."—Boston Transcript.

Sixteenth Century Custom.

In the Sixteenth century it was customary to put on one side of the blades of table knives the musical notes of the benediction or grace before meat, and on the other side the grace after meat.

CANADIANS VOTE GOVERNMENT OUT

Premier Meighen And Other Conservatives Overwhelmingly Defeated By Liberals In All Sections Of Dominion—Lower Tariff Issue.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ottawa, Ont. Dec. 7.—Liberals will control both parliament and cabinet of Canada as a result of the unprecedented victory won by them in the Canadian general election. W. L. Mackenzie King, as leader of the Liberal Party, will be offered the post of premier. The conservatives, followers of Premier Arthur Meighen, failed to elect a candidate in four and possibly five provinces. Liberals will hold half the seats in the house of commons, while the conservatives will not have more than 15.

Premier Meighen and eight of his cabinet colleagues were defeated. Mr. King and William Crerar, leader of the Progressives, were both elected by big majorities.

Quebec province will have a dominating position in the new government, two Quebec Liberals having been offered cabinet positions—Sir Lomar Gouin and Walter Mitchell. Lower tariff was the chief issue.
